Are you going to be selling them before the tournament? If so, are they going to be the specially made ones for the dingy water? Or the ones that you know will not catch anything other than the toothy ones? lol lol lol.

I'll try to get there early enough to make a few.

I'll make you whatever you think will catch them.

Those toothy fish don't seem to care what colors you're using. They are eating everything.
